Introduction

This compendium of resources has been prepared as a companion document to support Joint Regional Planning for Integrated Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Services – A Guide for Local Health Networks (LHNs) and Primary Health Networks (PHNs). The compendium may be updated from time to time to reflect changes in policies, new data sources, or new resource material which may be helpful to joint regional planning efforts.

1. Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan and other key national mental health policy documents

The Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan, and the Implementation Plan for the Fifth Plan are available at the following link:

Other important National Mental Health Strategy and broader national documents can be found at http://www.health.gov.au/internet/main/publishing.nsf/Content/publications-Mental+health and include:

- National Mental Health Policy 2008

- The Mental Health Statement of Rights and Responsibilities

- Contributing Lives: Thriving Communities - National Mental Health Commission
  Review of Mental Health Services, November 2014

2. PHN and LHN Alignment

The following tables identify the alignment between LHNs and PHNs for all states and territories. Victoria is presented separately, given the higher number of LHNs.

About LHNs and PHNs

LHNs vary across states and territories. LHNs are entities established by state and territory governments to manage single or small groups of public hospital services, including managing budgets and being directly responsible for performance. Most, but not all, LHNs are responsible for managing public hospital services in a defined geographical area. At the discretion of states and territories, LHNs may also manage other health services such as community based health services.

This guide uses the term LHNs for ease of reference. However these local entities may have different names in some jurisdictions. For example, they are referred to as Local Health Districts in New South Wales, Hospital and Health Services in Queensland, and the Tasmanian Health Service in Tasmania. Generally, LHNs provide specialist mental health treatment services for people with severe mental illness.

PHNs are Commonwealth funded regional bodies which have been established with the key objectives of increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of medical services for patients, particularly those at risk of poor health outcomes, and improving coordination of care to ensure patients receive the right care in the right place at the right time. Mental health has been identified as a key priority area for PHNs by the Commonwealth.

Statewide LHN Networks (secondary partners for PHNs)

There are also a number of statewide specialist health networks or services which work across PHNs regions and which are also important secondary partners in regional planning. Examples of these are Children’s Health Queensland, Justice Health and Forensic Mental Health NSW and Women and Childrens’ Health Network SA.

3. PHN Tools and Resources

Resources which may assist PHNs in joint regional planning with LHNs are available on the PHN website portal (http://www.health.gov.au/internet/main/publishing.nsf/Content/PHN-Home). These resources may also be of assistance to LHNs.

These include:

- The PHN Needs Assessment guide;
- PHN Commissioning resources – particularly PHN Planning in a Commissioning Environment – Guide and Resources;
- PHN Mental Health Guidance materials;
- An evidence-based systems approach to suicide prevention: guidance on planning, commissioning and monitoring as produced by the Black Dog Institute;
• PHN mental health data (see below);

• Primary Health Network and Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Organisations guiding principles.

• Primary Health Networks Performance Framework.

4. Local, state and national data sources to support planning

The following table provides a high-level summary of the type of data that can be useful, and where the data can be sourced. The emphasis is on data available at regional and subregional level rather than providing a comprehensive inventory of all mental health related data. PHNs will also have collated significant population level and local data as part of their needs assessments.

PHNs and LHNs and state/territory departments should develop arrangements and agreements for identifying and sharing information and data that may be relevant to regional planning. State based PHN/LHN forums or planning networks may be a useful vehicle to support this process.

5. Resources to support planning for suicide prevention

Planning for a regionally appropriate approach to structuring a system for reducing the impact of suicide on the community must be locally driven, but there are a number of national resources to draw upon.

In addition there are a number of trials of system based approaches to suicide prevention underway at a regional level which will help to inform collaborative approaches to planning and implementation. Information about these trials and their locations can be obtained from individual states and territories or from the Commonwealth Department of Health.

6. Resources to support planning for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Mental Health and Suicide Prevention

7. Introduction to the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework and its role in Regional Mental Health Service Planning

What is the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework? (NMHSPF)

The NMHSPF is an evidence-based framework designed to help users at the state and territory (jurisdiction), PHN and LHN level plan, to coordinate and resource mental health services to meet population needs. The development of the NMHSPF commenced under the 4th National Mental Health Plan and has involved input from over 100 experts in mental health or service modelling from around Australia in multiple phases of refinement. This has included representatives from the medical, nursing, allied health, consumer and carer fields, the NGO sector, peak bodies and research organisations. The Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan (2017) has endorsed the continuing development of the NMHSPF and the use of NMHSPF planning tools to support integrated mental health service planning and the development of joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plans.

The NMHSPF provides a comprehensive model of the mental health service types and resources required to meet the needs of a given population, across the full spectrum from community focused programs to promote mental health and prevent the onset of mental health problems, to the most intensive services for people with severe disorders. The specific interventions required by individuals with mental health problems and mental illness are described across ages and levels of severity, showing the complementary roles, functions and target groups appropriate for the primary, private, public and nongovernment sectors. The NMHSPF Planning Support Tool (NMHSPF-PST) enables estimates of the services required by a particular geographic catchment to be generated for forward planning years, including estimates of the numbers of people requiring different types of treatment or care, the workforce required to deliver these services and the costs associated.

The NMHSPF is continuing to be refined, with ongoing development being undertaken to update and improve the service modelling encompassed in the framework and to improve user-friendliness of the NMHSPF-PST.

How can service planners get access to the NMHSPF and NMHSPF-PST?

The NMHSPF is a sophisticated model and successful application requires a sound understanding of its structure, underlying assumptions and limitations, as well as the development of appropriate skills in using the NMHSPF-PST. Access to the NMHSPF materials and NMSPF-PST has been restricted to employees of PHNs, LHNs and jurisdictions whose organisation has entered into a licence agreement and who have completed the required training. As at mid-2018, more than 200 users have completed training under the initial 3-stage training model. A revised training model is likely to be introduced in 2019 to accommodate a newly developed version of the NMHSPF-PST.

How is the NMHSPF applied in regional planning?

The NMHSPF provides a strong foundation for integrated regional planning across the primary health, specialised mental health and nongovernment sectors through its modelling of the full spectrum of needs and establishment of a consistent taxonomy and definitions of required service types. At the local level the NMHSPF through its taxonomy and service elements, offers a nationally consistent approach to estimating mental health service requirements and to inform identification of priorities for planning and service development. Good knowledge of the available service system and patterns of use is required to complete this process. At this stage, NMHSPF estimates reflect the age profile of the specific catchment, but do not adjust for variations in geographic or demographic attributes of the particular population. Adjustments to address these factors need to occur as a second stage of planning, based on local knowledge of the catchment population and service context. It is important that planners recognize this need for interpretation and application of the NMHSPF outputs to the local context and have access to appropriate knowledge and information about the target population and service system to undertake this process. To assist licensed users to conduct gap analyses against NMHSPF outputs, the Australian Institute of Health and Welfare is undertaking work to map data from existing national mental health data collections to the NMHSPF outputs, and enable reporting of these results at the PHN, LHN and SA3 level. Mapping of Medical Benefits Schedule funded services to NMHSPF outputs has already been completed and made available to licensed users.

Is ongoing support provided to users of the NMHSPF?

During the initial phase of implementation, the University of Queensland is providing tailored support to licenced users of the NMHSPF via a dedicated email (nmhspf@qcmhr.uq.edu.au) and website (www.nmhspf.org.au). A range of resources is provided on the website, including access to a forum for sharing of information and experience with other users. In future, the capacity within the cohort of users to contribute to building higher levels of expertise in others is to be extended through the formation of a Super User network, with the aim of building a sustainable system of ongoing training and skill development in the use of a national approach to mental health service planning.
8. Spectrum of Public Participation

The IAP2 Federation has developed the below Spectrum to help groups define the public’s role in any public participation process.

IAP2 Spectrum of Public Participation

Inform
To provide the public with balanced and objective information to assist them in understanding the problem, alternatives, opportunities and/or solutions.

Consult
To obtain public feedback on analysts, alternatives and/or decisions.

Involve
To work directly with the public throughout the process to ensure that public concerns and aspirations are consistently understood and considered.

Collaborate
To partner with the public in each aspect of the decision including the development of alternatives and the identification of the preferred solution.

Empower
To place final decision-making in the hands of the public.

9. Jurisdiction specific plans, resources and priorities for joint regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

The following section provides jurisdiction by jurisdiction information about key policies, frameworks, resources and approaches which are relevant to joint regional mental health and suicide prevention planning. An overarching summary of jurisdictional plans and frameworks is below. More detailed state by state information follows.

Summary of Australian Government approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

The Australian Government is committed to supporting joint regional mental health and suicide prevention planning. The Australian Government Department of Health is requiring Primary Health Networks to engage with Local Hospital Networks or equivalents and other key stakeholders in each region to develop and publicly release joint regional plans. The Department regards this activity as necessary to enable PHNs to commission services to best address needs, promote integration and undertake appropriate planning and service development with key partners in the region.

Australian Government mental health policies, plans or frameworks which should inform regional planning in the jurisdiction

The key Australian Government policies, plans and frameworks which are relevant to joint planning are:

- Australian Government Response to Contributing Lives: Thriving Communities, November 2015
- Living is For Everyone: A Framework for Suicide Prevention in Australia (The LIFE Framework). (Date?)

Broader Australian Government policies or frameworks relevant to regional planning

- Australia’s National Digital Health Strategy, 2018
- Primary Health Networks Performance Framework (currently being revised)
- National Drug Strategy, 2017 - 2026

Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for PHNs arising from these policies

In addition to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning, other key priorities identified for PHNs in relation to mental health and suicide are:

- Stepped care – providing services in a way which ensures a range of service types are available to match individual and population needs
• Providing low intensity mental health services for early intervention, including use of digital mental health services
• Providing psychological therapies for hard to reach, underserviced groups (including residents of residential aged care facilities and people in drought impacted areas)
• Primary mental health care services for people with severe mental illness and the provision of psychosocial support (as per below)
• A regional systems based approach to suicide prevention
• Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander mental health and suicide prevention
• Child and youth mental health services

The Australian Government is also committed to ensuring evidence based mental health planning at a regional level, particularly through development and promotion of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework.

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

Coordinated Care bilateral agreements – The Coordinated Care reforms are intended to improve patient outcomes and reduce avoidable demands for services. The bilateral agreements include a focus on mental health and a commitment to explore potential trialling of joint commissioning of service delivery in mental health. Any mental health activities undertaken via the coordinated care bilateral agreement are required to be consistent with the priorities and objectives of the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan.

Psychosocial Support Bilateral Agreements – The Australian Government has entered into bilateral agreements with each state and territory regarding the provision of psychosocial support services for people with severe mental illness and reduced psychosocial functional capacity who are not eligible for the National Disability Insurance Scheme. The Government has provided specific funding to PHNs to implement new services in a way to complement State and Territory funded psychosocial support. Joint regional planning is a means of ensuring psychosocial support services are planned and developed in a complementary way which meets regional needs and jurisdictional priorities. PHNs should familiarise themselves with the particular priorities for psychosocial support identified in their jurisdiction’s bilateral agreement.

Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

PHNs have been required as part of the mental health schedules to their funding agreements to undertake regional mental health and suicide prevention planning in consultation with key stakeholders. The Australian Government will be directing PHNs to undertake joint regional mental health and suicide prevention planning with LHNs in line with the expectations of the Fifth Plan through the next revision of PHN Funding Schedules. The Government has communicated to PHNs a strong expectation of broad community engagement in developing joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plans and the importance of co-design of services and pathways with people with lived experience.
The Government will expect PHNs to continue to deliver on key priorities in primary mental health care which have been identified in Funding Schedules through regional planning. The Government supports PHNs in pursuing integrated approaches to improving service delivery which may include data sharing, coordinated commissioning and innovative use of digital technology.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

The Australian Government is supporting the further development, promotion and use of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework as an evidence based approach to planning and comprehensive service development. The Government is supporting its refinement for use in primary care, promoting opportunities for PHNs to gain skills in its use, and with other jurisdictions is committed to supporting further development and application.

NEW SOUTH WALES

Summary of jurisdictional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

In NSW, Local Health Districts (LHDs) and Specialty Health Networks (SHNs) have responsibility and accountability for managing all aspects of hospital and health service planning and delivery for their local district or specialty network.

Service agreements between LHDs/SHNs and NSW Health set out service and performance expectations and funding. It supports the devolution of decision making, responsibility and accountability for safe, high quality, patient centred care to local health districts, other health services and support organisations.

LHDs have progressed with establishing governance committees with local PHNs and other stakeholders (including consumers, carers and families) to approach integrated regional planning. These committees have been tasked with joint mental health service planning and commissioning. The NSW PHN – NSW Health Statewide Committee is the NSW Health led committee that provides a platform to work collaboratively between LHDs and PHNs to implement healthcare reforms across the health system.

Jurisdiction level mental health policies, plans or frameworks which should inform regional planning in the jurisdiction

The Living Well: A Strategic Plan for Mental Health 2014-2024 plan was developed by the Mental Health Commission of NSW to set the direction to reform the mental health system in NSW. It has been adopted by the NSW government.

The NSW Government has committed to delivering on a number of strategic mental health reforms that have emerged from Living Well. These reforms include enablers that shift the focus of mental health care from hospitals to the community. Integrated service delivery is a key objective in mental health service planning in NSW.

Development of a Mental Health Workforce Plan was a recommendation of Living Well and an essential reform activity. The NSW Strategic Framework for Mental Health (Framework) 2018-2022 and accompanying NSW Mental Health Workforce Plan (Workforce Plan) 2018-2022 is due for release in 2018.

The Secretary of NSW Health enters into Service Agreements with each of the LHDs and SHNs. Through execution of the Agreement, the Secretary agrees to provide the funding and other support to the LHD/SHN as outlined in this Service Agreement.

The NSW Process of Facility Planning (POFP) provides a framework for planning and procuring capital infrastructure across the NSW public health system (PD2010_035). POFP guidelines have been developed for projects valued $10 million and above, and projects valued less than $10 million.
Broader state level policies or frameworks relevant to regional planning

NSW: Making it Happen outlines NSW Health’s State Priorities, including 12 Premier’s Priorities that together define the NSW Government’s vision for a stronger, healthier and safer NSW. As delivery of both Premier’s and State priorities is the responsibility of all NSW Government Agencies, all entities work together to ensure successful delivery, in both lead and partnering agency capacities.

The NSW State Health Plan: Towards 2021 provides a strategic framework which brings together NSW Health’s existing plans, programs and policies and sets priorities across the system for the delivery of the right care, in the right place, at the right time.

The NSW Health Strategic Priorities 2018-19 builds on and complements the NSW State Health Plan: Towards 2021 and aligns with the NSW State and Premier’s Priorities. The approach outlined in the plan frames the Ministry’s role as system manager for NSW Health, strengthens system governance and establishes a strategic planning framework.

Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for LHNs and PHNs arising from these policies

The NSW Ministry of Health and the NSW Mental Health Commission are leading the development of a Strategic Framework for Suicide Prevention in NSW. This Framework sets out the fundamental principles of suicide prevention, assisting communities to coordinate the essential elements in a way that suits their own local needs and conditions.

The Framework will help organisations to clearly understand their responsibilities and will enhance the ability of the system to respond to suicide. It will better coordinate services across Commonwealth, State and Local levels and between health and other critical service areas such as education, justice and family services. The Framework is due to be released in mid-2018.

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

The Commonwealth and NSW signed the Bilateral Agreement on the National Psychosocial Support (NPS) Measure on 30 May 2018. The agreement reflects both Governments’ shared responsibility for the National Disability Insurance Scheme and specifies arrangements for both Governments to make ongoing, up-front funding contributions to the scheme.

The Commonwealth and NSW signed a Bilateral Agreement on Coordinated care reforms to improve patient health outcomes and reduce avoidable demand for health services in late 2017.

The Bilateral Agreement is a key reform under the COAG National Health Reform Agreement (NHRA) Addendum 2017-20. It has eight priority areas with a total of 74 milestones to be delivered over the next two years (January 2018 to December 2019).
A number of the Bilateral Agreement milestones relate to joint/coordinated or collaborative commissioning of services and system integration through regional planning. Actions taken as part of the bilateral agreement are required to align with the priorities areas and objectives of the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan.

Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

NSW Health is encouraging LHDs and PHNs to undertake joint planning as part of the implementation of the Fifth Plan. Under the Health Services Act 1997, Boards have the function of ensuring that strategic plans to guide the delivery of services are developed for the District or Network and for approving these plans. Local Health Districts and Specialty Health Networks are responsible for developing the following Plans with Board oversight:
- Strategic Plan
- Clinical Services Plans
- Safety and Quality Account and subsequent Safety and Quality Plan
- Workforce Plan
- Corporate Governance Plan
- Asset Strategic Plan

It is recognised that each District and Network will implement local priorities to deliver the NSW Government and NSW Health priorities, and meet the needs of their respective populations.

NSW Ministry of Health continues to work with LHDs to develop strategic plans for services, such as clinical service plans. The Ministry’s review of these plans will be used to reiterate the Ministry’s expectations of LHDs and PHNs to undertake the joint regional planning as required by the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan.

NSW notes that regional plans will not override the requirements set forth for LHDs in service agreements and should be read in conjunction with these and other relevant planning documents. NSW will monitor and report on the process of joint regional plans between LHDs and PHNs through reporting to the Commonwealth Government on Fifth Plan implementation.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

The National Mental Health Service Planning Framework (NMHSPF) is the specific mental health planning tool which is available to licenced users in the NSW Ministry of Health, PHN and LHDs. Given the high number of LHDs and SNs in NSW relative to other states and territories, approximately half of NSW LHDs and SHNs have trained in the NMHSPF.

VICTORIA

Broader state level policies or frameworks relevant to regional planning

Statewide design, service and infrastructure plan for Victoria’s health system 2017-2037

Integrating care across the health and social service system, and better supporting people who are vulnerable and have serious complex needs, is a priority area under Victoria’s statewide design, service and infrastructure plan for Victoria’s health system 2017-2037 released in November 2017. This sets out:

- Infrastructure priorities, both in specific regions and statewide. For mental health, for example, this includes redevelopment of Orygen Youth Mental Health in Parkville (Melbourne), and expansion of forensic mental health (statewide).
- Regional partnership priorities in specific regions. For mental health, for example, this includes development of a new prevention and recovery care (PARC) service in Ballarat.
- Prevention priorities – for example school based mental health programs as a secondary prevention / early intervention tool

Closing critical gaps in mental health services is a key action within the plan. Victoria does not have enough mental health community and bed-based capacity to meet the growing demand and complexity of needs in our community. This means that only people with severe symptoms or very acute illness are able to get access to a bed, and opportunities to support them in the community are very limited. As a result, more people needing inpatient care are showing up at emergency departments after their condition has reached a crisis point. This crisis-driven response creates a vicious circle: increasing emergency presentations drives a need for more bed-based care, diverting more resources from community settings where care could have been provided sooner.

Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for LHNs and PHNs arising from these policies

All planning should support the achievement of the Victorian Government’s goal to halve Victoria’s suicide rate by 2025, as well as the outcomes sought by Victoria’s 10-year mental health plan.

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

National Psychosocial Support Measure - The Bilateral Agreement between the Commonwealth and Victoria for the national psychosocial support measure (the measure) has been signed by both parties in June 2018. The measure targets people with a severe mental illness who do not qualify for the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS) because they do not have a significant, enduring psychosocial disability but require a level of specialist, less intensive and possibly shorter (non-clinical) psychosocial support to build their capacity for daily living and connectedness.
Victoria has continued to progressively invest in non-clinical mental health supports, with a focus on people experiencing homelessness and social exclusion. This funding, which has progressively increased from 2015-16, forms Victoria’s co-contribution to the national psychosocial support measure. During the planning phase, PHN’s will be considering how the funding they receive from the Commonwealth under the measure can complement or enhance clinical mental health services, including activities commissioned by the PHNs that target the clinical needs of people with a mental illness.

The Department of Health and Human Services will actively engage PHNs in planning for the measure to maximise potential synergies between Victoria’s psychosocial investment package and supports funded through the Commonwealth contribution to the measure. Coordinated care - Victoria’s bilateral agreement with the Commonwealth on coordinated care was signed in May 2018. This agreement includes a commitment to explore potential trialling of joint commissioning of service delivery in mental health, and will help to support priority activities as identified within joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plan. Any mental health activities undertaken via the coordinated care bilateral agreement are required to be consistent with the priorities and objectives of the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan – this is expressly noted under the mental health component of the agreement.

Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

Consistent with the commitments made under the Fifth National Mental Health Plan, Victoria is proactively supporting the development of regional and suicide prevention plans by PHNs and LHNs. For LHNs, expectations of health services are stipulated in the department’s Policy and Funding Guidelines for Health Operations, which are issued each year. The Policy and Funding Guidelines for Health Operations 2017-18 (the guidelines) details the performance and financial framework within which state government-funded health sector entities (i.e. LHNs) operate. The guidelines represent the system-wide terms and conditions (for funding, administrative and clinical policy) of funding for government-funded healthcare organisations, including LHNs.

It will remain critical for Victorian health services to meet all conditions expected under the Policy and Funding Guidelines. Joint regional planning should serve to assist this.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

Victoria remains committed to the multilateral agreement and licence arrangements supporting the continued development of the NMHSPF and Planning Support Tool. Application of the NMHSPF to determine the requirements for Victoria will be crucial to informing gap analysis and needs that support joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plans across different region.

Additionally, Victoria – as chair of the National Suicide Prevention Project Reference Group (SPPRG) – will continue to lead and support planning activity in relation to suicide prevention under the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan.
QUEENSLAND

Summary of jurisdictional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

Queensland Health, through the Mental Health Alcohol and Other Drugs Branch (MHAODB), facilitates regional mental health and suicide prevention planning by supporting Hospital and Health Services (HHSs) to work with their respective PHNs and other stakeholders. Additionally, the MHAODB, as commissioner of mental health community support services delivered by NGOs, works with HHS and PHNs to ensure alignment of commissioning activities.

HHSs and their respective PHNs are encouraged to use the support provided by the MHAODB to:
1) ensure alignment of joint regional plans against national and jurisdictional planning strategies and frameworks;
2) ensure consistency in using the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework to inform regional planning; and
3) facilitate knowledge transfer between HHSs and PHNs in regional mental health and suicide prevention planning
4) support alignment and consistency in commissioning of mental health and suicide prevention services delivered by NGOs.

Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Health Workforce Strategic Framework 2016 – 2026.
Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for LHNs and PHNs arising from these policies

Connecting Care to Recovery recognises that our State funded service system sits alongside and interfaces with an array of other specialist and generic clinical and non-clinical services and programs. Strengthening cross-sectoral partnerships, building collaborative relationships and coordinated and integrated services across the continuum are fundamental strategies under Connecting Care to Recovery.

These strategic priorities are consistent with other key plans, including My health, Queensland’s future: Advancing health 2026, the Queensland Mental Health Commission whole-of-government State-wide Strategic Plan (currently being renewed), and the National Mental Health Commission Contributing Lives, Thriving Communities Report.

The Queensland Government emphasises the importance of a comprehensive cross-sectoral approach to suicide prevention. Within this context, Hospital and Health Services and Primary Health Networks play an important leadership role in partnering with other local service providers and people with a lived experience to improve the health system’s capacity to respond to people at risk of suicide. The delivery of quality, timely, and appropriate suicide risk assessment, management and ongoing care is a vital component to a comprehensive cross-sectoral approach to suicide prevention.

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

The Commonwealth committed $80 million nationally over four years from 2017–18 to 2020–21 to the National Psychosocial Supports Measure announced in the 2017 federal budget. The Commonwealth’s $80 million will be provided to regional Primary Health Networks and informed by joint planning by PHNs and HHSs to meet community needs.

The Bilateral Agreement between the Commonwealth and Queensland: National Psychosocial Support Measure includes Queensland’s matched commitment and an implementation plan which outlines supports and funding to be provided from 2017-18 to 2020-21.

Queensland Health is targeting its matched investment to service models providing individual and tailored non-clinical supports and which are integrated with clinical treatment services provided through HHS. This is also a key priority under Connecting Care to Recovery 2016-2021 which prioritises integrated and streamlined service models to individuals with severe, persistent and complex mental illness.

In recognition of the importance of effectively targeting investment, Queensland Health, as commissioners of mental health community support services delivered by NGOs across the State, is working closely and collaboratively with HHS and PHNs to ensure alignment of commissioning and contracting processes.
Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

Consistent with the commitments made under the Fifth National Mental Health Plan, Queensland Health is proactively supporting the development of regional and suicide prevention plans by HHS and PHNs. The MHAODB is working closely with HHS and PHNs to ensure the commitment to fulfil requirements for plans to be publicly released by mid-2020 and comprehensive plans to be publicly released by mid-2022.

This process supports HHSs and PHNs identifying and articulating roles and responsibilities for mental health services and suicide prevention initiatives in joint regional plans, and adopting (taking into account rural and regional considerations) the taxonomy and service elements used in the NMHSPF.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

The MHAODB supports HHSs to complete the training to use the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework (NMHSPF) Planning Support Tool, and provides ongoing technical support for HHSs to use the NMHSPF to inform mental health service planning activities, including joint regional planning.

The MHAODB supports the continuous development of the NMHSPF by participating in national development and training workshops to further refine the NMHSPF.

The MHAODB promotes the use and recognition of the NMHSPF as an evidence-based, nationally consistent framework for mental health service planning.

Queensland-based PHNs are represented on the Queensland Suicide Prevention Health Taskforce which was established to focus on the development of suicide prevention policy, strategies, services, and programs to be sued in a health service delivery context in order to contribute to a measureable reduction in suicide and its impact on Queenslanders. Identifying and leading innovative partnerships between HHSs, PHNs and people with a lived experience to promote the delivery of high quality, evidence-based treatments for people identified with suicide risk is a key Taskforce objective.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA

1. Summary of jurisdictional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

2. Jurisdiction level mental health policies, plans or frameworks which should inform regional planning in the jurisdiction

The three key frameworks for Western Australia are the Western Australian Mental Health, Alcohol and Other Drug (AOD) Services Plan 2015-2025 (the Plan), Mental Health 2020: Making it personal and everybody’s business and Suicide Prevention 2020.

The first Two Year Plan Update scheduled for release in 2018 will include modelling and a summary of progress towards key actions outlined in the original Plan. Whilst the original Plan continues to be the primary reference for mental health, alcohol and other drug services development, the Two Year Plan Update will provide the latest modelling and population demographics to ensure ongoing responsiveness to emerging trends.

3. Broader state level policies or frameworks relevant to regional planning

In Western Australia, the WA MHC is responsible for mental health, alcohol and other drug services planning. A key guiding document is the draft Western Australian Alcohol and Drug Interagency Strategy 2018-2022 (Interagency Strategy). The draft Interagency Strategy provides a guide for Government, non-government organisations and the community with the goal of reducing and preventing the impacts of alcohol and other drugs in the Western Australian community. It recognises that requirements for the development and implementation of initiatives that address the co-occurrence of mental health, alcohol and other drug issues.

Other key strategic references currently being finalised by the WA MHC include:

- Draft Mental Health Promotion, Mental Illness and Alcohol and Other Drug Prevention Plan 2018-2025;

• Draft Western Australian Mental Health, Alcohol and Other Drug Accommodation and Support Strategy 2018-2025; and the
• Draft Western Australian Mental Health, Alcohol and Other Drug Workforce Strategic Framework 2018-2025.

Other broad state level policies developed by State Government departments, including the Department of Health, that inform and integrate with the WA MHC’s planning initiatives include:
• Sustainable Health Review Interim Report;
• Western Australian WA Health Clinical Services Framework 2014-2024;
• Western Australian WA Aboriginal Health and Wellbeing Framework 2015-2030;
• First Interim State Public Health Plan for Western Australia;
• Western Australian WA Youth Health Policy 2018-2023;
• Western Australian Women’s Health Strategy 2018-2023;
• Western Australian WA Men’s Health and Wellbeing Policy; and
• Western Australian WA LGBTI Health Strategy.

4. Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for LHNs and PHNs arising from these policies

The high level policies and frameworks referenced above reflect the prioritisation of a number of key issues for action including:
• rebalancing the system increasing focus on prevention and community based treatment and support options;
• increasing opportunities for consumer and carer engagement;
• reducing inequities in health outcomes for priority populations such as Aboriginal people and people living in regional areas;
• improving consumer access to, and navigation of, health and mental health systems;
• ensuring investment in technology improves efficiency and effective delivery of services;
• delivering flexible, patient-focused, models of service that support a shift in focus toward quality, accountable performance and collaboration; and
• developing a supported and flexible workforce.

The MHC and WA Primary Health Alliance (WAPHA) work together to ensure greater coordination and collaboration in AOD commissioning and program delivery in Western Australia.

The MHC recognises the need for greater coordination between general practitioners (GPs) and Health Service Providers and is working with WAPHA to advance innovative practices that will ensure a more cohesive continuum of care for patients.

The Bilateral Agreement between the Commonwealth and Western Australia for the Psychosocial Support Measure was completed in May 2018 and will support a range of psychosocial support programs and services currently commissioned by the WA MHC including:

- Community Mental Health Step Up/Step Down Services;
- Personalised Supports;
- Respite Services;
- Family and Carer Supports;
- Group Support Activities; and
- Accommodation and Support Services.

6. Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

   The WA MHC expects that regional plans will be developed in partnership between the MHC, LHNs and PHNs in line with Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan.

   The MHC contracted Suicide Prevention Coordinators are working closely with stakeholders including PHNs and LHNs, to coordinate suicide prevention planning and activity at a regional level.

   Special attention is paid to ensuring that the local Aboriginal communities are appropriately consulted and that all planned responses are culturally secure.

7. Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

   The Western Australian MHC is committed to supporting the development of the NMHSPF for regional planning, including for the underlying modelling of the Western Australian Mental Health, Alcohol and Other Drug Services Plan 2015-2025.

SOUTH AUSTRALIA

Summary of jurisdictional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

The approach to be taken by SA will include:

- A statement of commitment and explanation of jurisdictional approach to regional planning.
- Recognition of the roles and responsibilities of various parties: State department, LHNs (new boards) and PHNs
- Arrangements for oversight will be established as well as any regional processes taking into account South Australia’s geography and health service delivery arrangements and any other requirements arising from the Fifth Plan.
- Defining the regions, noting the catchment areas of metropolitan LHNs and PHNs, and proposed changes to governance structures in SA.

Country Health SA

Country Health SA and Country Primary Health Network are working collaboratively to support regional planning by developing a shared understanding and strong partnership in delivering the spectrum of mental health services to country people.

Activities to date include:

- Systematic gap analysis across the continuum of care, to clarify
  1) priority areas for service enhancement and
  2) shared understanding of stepped model of care in line with the 5th National Mental Health Plan.

Country Health SA will devolve on June 30 2019 to become 6 LHNs governed by new boards. These LHNs will need to partner with PHNs to generate their own regional plan.

At a regional level, LHNs and PHNs will work together to map providers across service system, develop stronger referral pathways and build community knowledge of the range of available services and how to access them. Key policy priorities are directed by the SA Suicide Prevention Plan 2017-2021. LHNs and PHNs will develop an integrated, whole-of-community approach to support mental health and suicide prevention.

- The 3 main areas are:
  - Making People the Priority - high quality treatment, improved follow-up and continuous care after discharge from acute care, and every discharge to be referred to Community Mental Health
  - Empowering Communities - Suicide Prevention (SP) Networks have been set up in a number of local government regions across the state
  - Translating evidence into practice

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

SA Health has facilitated funding to complement Commonwealth funding for the PHNs to deliver psychosocial support services to address gaps identified with the introduction of the NDIS.
Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

In light of the SA Government’s support of the Fifth Plan, the SA Health Department intends to direct LHNs to work with PHNs on regional planning.

- An overarching agreement between LHNs and PHNs to support regional planning
- Service agreements delineating service delivery requirements for LHNs (and newly constituted boards when introduced in 2019),
- The development of the Mental Health Service Plan is likely to influence the state-wide planning for acute mental facilities as well as for community mental services and other matters
- Defining agreed regions and sub-regions for regional planning and developing requirements for managing inter-agency relationships
- Collaboration across regions (especially between metropolitan and country regions) and across agencies.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

The NMHSF is to be used in the Mental Health Service Planning Framework at a state-wide level and will also be used by LHNs at the regional level in conjunction with PHNs. SA Health will use the NMHSF to support regional mental planning efforts and provide assistance that may be available to regions in using these planning tools. SA Health will contribute advice based on its experiences about how the NMHSF, including any associated tools and resources, should be further developed, refined and applied.

The State Mental Health Service Planning Framework will establish governance arrangements for the planning process. State level planning resources to assist regional planning is a matter that may be considered

TASMANIA

Summary of jurisdictional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

There is a history of collaboration between the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS) Tasmania, the Tasmanian Health Service (Tasmania’s LHN) and Primary Health Tasmania (Tasmania’s Primary Health Network).

A Memorandum of Understanding (MOU) formalises the commitment of all parties to working together for better health outcomes for Tasmanians. Although regional mental health planning is not specifically mandated and identified, it is through the MOU and the associated processes that regional mental health planning has commenced.

DHHS, PHT and THS are working in partnership to complete three key pieces of work relevant to the development of a Tasmanian regional mental health and suicide prevention plan. This will be comprised of:

- development of a joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plan for Tasmania that is informed by the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework and a joint mental health needs assessment to identify gaps, duplication and inefficiencies to make better use of existing resources and improve sustainability
- commissioning of services according to the joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plan

  - Better integration of key parts of the mental health system including public mental health services, primary health care, clinical and non-clinical services and private providers
• Reform Direction 5 – Shifting the focus from hospital based care to support in the community
  o Develop stepped models of mental health support in the community

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning
• National Psychosocial Support Measure to support people with severe mental illness and associated psychosocial functional impairment who are not more appropriately supported through the NDIS; and reduce the avoidable need for more intense and acute health services and enhance appropriate/optimal use of the health system.
• Bilateral agreement will require:
  o a regional approach to target psychosocial support services to individual needs, creating flexible, efficient service delivery and may include individual and group support and rehabilitation and peer work o improved service coordination for individuals with severe mental illness and associated psychosocial functional impairment, while taking into account supports available across the levels of governments, the community and relevant sectors
• All activities undertaken under the bilateral agreement are required to be consistent with the priorities and objectives of the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan.

Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

Key people within DHHS, PHT and THS have been trained in using NMHSPF and are licensed users.

The following steps will be undertaken to support development and application of NMHSPF:

• joint mapping of current Tasmanian services against the NMHSPF taxonomy
• application of the NMHSPF to determine the requirements for Tasmania
• gap analysis between current services and identified requirements as per the NMHSPF
• development of joint regional mental health and suicide prevention plan to move Tasmania from current service delivery to required service delivery as determined through application of the NMHSPF

AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL TERRITORY

Summary of jurisdicntional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

The establishment of an Office of Mental Health and Wellbeing (the Office) – The Office has comprehensive oversight of the mental health service system in the ACT, across government and community sectors. It focuses on co-ordination of services across the continuum of mental health treatment, care and support to ensure people can access services at the right place and the right time. The Office was established in 2018 and will play a significant role in integrated service planning.

ACT Regional Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan – This plan is in the process of being developed by Capital Health Network (CHN, the ACT’s Primary Health Network), in partnership with ACT Health. This planning process is guided by and aligns with the Fifth Plan and other national strategic documents, the NMHSPF and local planning documents such as the CHN’s Baseline Needs Assessment (2018), the recently released Integrated Mental Health Atlas of the Australian Capital Territory Primary Health Network Region and the ACT Health Strategic Framework for Mental Health and Suicide Prevention 2017-2023.

LifeSpan Framework for Suicide Prevention - Evidence points to the benefits of combining effective strategies into an integrated, systems based approach to suicide prevention. LifeSpan will be implemented across the ACT, in collaboration with The Black Dog Institute, and provides a framework for integrated, regionally based suicide prevention including nine evidence-based strategies, targeting population to individual-level risk.

Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for LHNs and PHNs arising from these policies

The Draft ACT Health Strategic Framework for Mental Health and Suicide Prevention (2017-2023) outlines ACT priorities, challenges and activities aligned with the Fifth Plan.

ACT Health Models of Care outline the vision, aims and operations of services including how they align with the Fifth Plan and support integrated and co-ordinated care.

Capital Health Network Baseline Needs Assessment highlights key priorities informed by quantitative and qualitative data.

Better Services Blueprint outlines the following aims:
- Creating a better service experience:
- Improving economic and social participation, especially amongst disadvantaged Canberrans:
- Making services sustainable

The ACT Multicultural Framework 2015 – 2020 highlights accessibility and responsiveness of services in relation to culturally and linguistically diverse people.
The ACT Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Agreement 2015-2018 sets a quality life outcome of focused and effective services for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples in the ACT – where service directorates and service partners will collaborate to provide culturally appropriate holistic service delivery.

The Homelessness and Supported Accommodation study will inform future facility planning. The Justice Reinvestment Strategy takes a cumulative approach that aims to deliver improved outcomes in the community and justice system.

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

Psychosocial Support Measure – The Bilateral Agreement between the ACT and Australian Government will enhance funding for psychosocial support measures for people with functional impairment resulting from severe mental illness who are not found eligible for the NDIS, or who are otherwise not engaged with the NDIS. Australian Government funding will be administered by the Capital Health Network Target areas will be informed by the Fifth Plan and priorities identified in the joint integrated regional planning process.

Partnership Agreement on Suicide Prevention - Highlighted lack of data on suicide hotspots in the ACT. Suicide Prevention data will be improved through ACT implementation of the LifeSpan Suicide Prevention Framework.

Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

The CHN and ACT Health have agreed to develop the ACT Regional Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan in recognition of the importance of a strategic and coordinated approach to the provision of mental health and suicide prevention services across the ACT and the significant role these organisations play in commissioning and delivery of these services.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework, and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

The NMHSPF is being used to inform the development of the ACT Regional Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan. ACT Health and Capital Health Network have a number of staff trained in the use of the NMHSPF Tool. A reference group has been established to look at the application of the tool for the ACT.

Other information such as national and local data and the Integrated Mental Health Atlas of the Australian Capital Territory Primary Health Network Region will also inform planning.

NORTHERN TERRITORY

Summary of jurisdictional approach to regional mental health and suicide prevention planning

The Mental Health and Alcohol and Other Drugs Branch (MHAOD), Northern Territory Government, Department of Health (NTG DOH), is the key driver of ongoing collaboration to planning urban, regional and remote mental health and suicide prevention approaches across the Northern Territory (NT).

The MHAOD has led the multisectoral, cross-agency development of the new NT Suicide Prevention Strategic Framework 2018-2023. This comprehensive framework provides for the collaborative design and ongoing implementation and evaluation of regional suicide prevention efforts across the NT. It aligns to both national and international recommendations. The Strategic Framework and the accompanying Implementation Plan were launched in August 2018.

The NT Government has made a commitment to reviewing the NT Mental Health Service Strategic Plan 2015-2021, and to update this plan to reflect contemporary standards and mental health reforms. An initial review has been completed with a full review and update to be concluded in 2019.

The MHAOD Branch has initiated a planning forum to provide coordination and transparency for funding investment and discussions relating to primary health and community managed services that meet the range of mental health and suicide prevention needs across the NT. The aim of the forum is to prevent a duplication of funding and to identify service gaps.

Core membership of this forum consists of the following:
- Australian Government Department of Health
- Prime Minister and Cabinet
- Department of Social Services
- NT Department of Health
- NT Primary Health Network

Summary of key priorities for and approaches to mental health and suicide prevention planning for LHNs and PHNs arising from these policies

Regional planning will take into account the current NT Strategic Plan and Suicide Prevention Strategic Framework and Implementation Plan, the current investment in LHNs, Aboriginal Medical Services, Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services, and community based services.

This work is in early stages of reviewing current services and gaps to inform regional planning opportunities and consideration around potential governance arrangements.

Issues arising from bilateral agreements relevant to regional planning

The Bilateral Agreement between the Australian Government and the Northern Territory Government to provide the National Psychosocial Support Measure was signed in July 2018. Careful consideration during the needs assessment, planning and commissioning process will be required to provide any effective outcomes for Territorians with psychosocial disability who are not eligible for the National Disability Insurance Scheme.

Jurisdictional expectations or requirements in relation to the process of regional planning

The NTG DOH is committed to working collaboratively and in partnership with LHNs, Aboriginal Medical Services, Aboriginal Community Controlled Health Services, NTPHN, consumers and carers and other relevant stakeholders in regional planning consistent with the Fifth National Mental Health and Suicide Prevention Plan to identify service gaps, reduce duplication and explore opportunity for efficiencies. The NTG DOH will request LHNs to jointly develop and publically release joint regional plans with LHNs.

Jurisdictional approach to supporting development and application of the National Mental Health Service Planning Framework (NMHSPF), and other planning tools and resources available to assist regional planning

The NT DOH will work closely with the NTPHN and LHNs in the use of the NMHSPF and has contributed to further investment and development of the tool. Due to the unique demographics of the NT, application of the NMHSPF in its current form is limited and is likely to be used as a baseline in needs assessment work and to assess current investment of workforce in urban centres. This NMHSPF will be more effectively applied when further iterations are completed to deal with rural and remote areas.
